California Sports Surfaces is proud to spotlight the transformation of Rialto City Park, where the tennis, pickleball, and basketball courts were beautifully resurfaced using Plexipave[®] Hardcourt in custom-designed color schemes. Completed by the expert team at Trueline Construction & Surfacing, this project exemplifies the power of sport surface design to elevate community spaces. With bold colors inspired by the City of Rialto's Parks & Recreation logo and selected for both visual impact and heat reduction, the courts are now a vibrant, inclusive hub for play.

“ This project looks way better than what the design is.
IT SUPERSEDED MY EXPECTATIONS AND I AM OVER THE MOON.

PSA: Rialto City Park Courts Resurfacing - A Commitment to Inclusion and Excellence

The Rialto City Park Courts Resurfacing Project is more than just a facelift--it's a reflection of our city's identity and commitment to vibrant, welcoming public spaces. The bold, bright colors were carefully selected based on color theory, designed not only to make the courts more attractive but also to help reduce heat during the hot summer months.

More importantly, the colors mirror the Rialto Parks & Recreation Department logo, which features teal, yellow, green, blue, red, and orange--a symbol of inclusion, diversity, and community engagement in everything we do. This project embodies our City Council's dedication to maintaining high-quality, family-friendly public spaces that bring people together and enhance the quality of life for all residents.

As a family-first community, we believe that safe, well-maintained, and accessible parks foster a stronger sense of connection and community pride. This resurfacing project is a testament to Rialto's ability to provide top-tier recreational amenities--proving that a city like ours can have parks and facilities just as outstanding as those in major metropolitan areas like Los Angeles. ”
